

Correction

Re: the letter in reply “Achieving equal standards in medical student education: is a national exit examination the answer?”, by Bogda Koczwara, on behalf of the Cancer Council of Australia Oncology Education Committee, in the 1 August issue of the Journal (Med J Aust 2005; 183: 168). Part of the reference list was omitted from the printed version due to a technical error. The complete list of references is:

- 1 Koczwara B, Tattersall MHN, Barton MB, et al. Achieving equal standards in medical student education: is a national exit examination the answer? Med J Aust 2005; 182: 228-230.
- 2 Colby A, Kohlberg L, Gibbs J, et al. The measurement of moral judgment: standard issue scoring mechanism. Cambridge, Mass: Harvard University Center for Moral Development and Education, 1983.
- 3 Rest JR. Development in judging moral issues. Minneapolis, Minn: University of Minnesota Press, 1979.
- 4 Norcini JJ, Blank LL, Duffy FD, Fortna GS. The mini-CEX: a method for assessing clinical skills. Ann Intern Med 2003; 138: 476-481. □

Correction

Re: the letter “Reliability of parental reports of head lice in their children”, by Megan L Counahan, Ross M Andrews and Rick Speare, in the 7 February issue of the Journal (Med J Aust 2005; 182: 137-138). There was an error in Box 2, Sensitivity and specificity of parental report versus screening. The specificity given as 94.0% (969/1030) should have been 98.8% (1018/1030). □