

CHRISTMAS OFFERINGS

The colonoscope strikes back: a diverticular Darth Vader

A 61-year-old woman with known colonic diverticula underwent colonoscopy for abdominal pain. The cause remained obscure until this sinister face appeared in the viewing scope, which the authors instantly recognised as the potential source of evil (Figure).

Anthony F T Brown, Senior Staff Specialist¹

Andrew Bryant, Visiting Specialist Gastroenterologist²

¹ Emergency Department, Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital, Brisbane, QLD.

² Holy Spirit Northside Hospital, Brisbane, QLD.

af.brown@uq.edu.au

