We read with mirrorlight
how do we say?
not often enough
to mean the inverse.

Symbiosis:
see you soon, that’s enough
fear of far with an I while far with they stays okay if it stays away.

We run as the river lives
through us.
The spur of life is that we cannot
experience any entity in its entirety.
The baby’s toenail or fontanelle.
A sliver of sky or the crow’s eye.
The mirror projects we trust infinite variables:
frontal, quarter profile, the degrees between.
The other side is not always
but there always is the other side.
Malaria pivots on the silver point of poverty.
I is in the beauty of the beholder.

MJA 202 (7) · 20 April 2015

Cameron Conaway
MFA (Creative Writing)
Penn State Altoona, Altoona, Penn, USA.
Cameron423@gmail.com
doi:10.5694/mja14.01364